Maintain the Quality of Alberta's Crops

Better Seed means

Better Yields — Better Grades — Better Prices

A special committee appointed by the Minister of Agriculture, with the co-operation of numerous organizations in the province, is urging the use of this seed by farmers throughout the province.

High quality, clean, treated, seed grain, in order to reduce the heavy annual losses sustained by sowing inferior seed.

Farmers can co-operate by

1. Using registered seed wherever possible.
2. Having seed tested for germination and purity.
3. Treating seed for smut.
4. Thoroughly cleaning all grain intended for seed.
5. Seedling only varieties of recognized quality and varieties suitable to the district.

Good seed will be in demand this spring. Secure your requirements early—before the supply is exhausted.

U. F. A. Local, Boards of Trade, The Wheat Pool, Banks, Commercial Grain Firms, the Press, and many other organizations are working in co-operation with the consisting of representatives of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, the Dominion Seed Branch, the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, The Alberta Seed Growers' Association, the C.P.R. Agricultural Department and the University of Alberta.

BETTER SEED COMMITTEE

ANSWERS TO LAST WEEK'S QUESTIONS

421. What Is a Vacuum-Tube Amplifier?

A marvelous contrivance which enables a weak current (like incoming radio waves) to control the flow of a strong current. Tube contains three electric terminals—filament, plate, and grid. When filament is heated by the "A" current electrones (electric particles) flow between filament and plate, forming an electronic bridge over which a high-voltage "B" current can flow, the volume of "B" current allowed to pass being in exact proportion to the "A" current flow. Current being amplified passes through the grid and controls the "A" current. Any fluctuations in the grid current make instantaneous like changes in the "A" current, which in turn accurately controls the powerful "B" current.

422. Its Principal Uses?

Indispensable wherever delicate sound, light or electric impulses need building up. When sending speeches, concerts or pictures by radio or long-distance telephone, the delicate microphone or photo-electric cell current is first built up by the vacuum tube amplifiers. Also rebuild telephone currents so greater distances can be spanned. The long-distance telephone cable New York to Chicago has seventeen repeater stations, permitting conversation over wires the size of a pin—open-wire circuit would require copper wire the size of a large nail. By 1925 repeaters will probably have saved telephone companies an investment of 200 to 300 million dollars.

423. What Is the Electric Furnace?

Is a powerful electric source, called "electrodes" (sometimes 2 or more carbon rods 6 feet long, 2 feet through) are placed end to end, slightly separated; the current leaps across and the intervening air offers such high resistance that terrific heat is engendered—may reach as high as 6,300 degrees, 3 times as hot as molten cast iron; temperature of sun is about 10,000 degrees. Resistance furnace generates heat by passage of current through resistance element—same principle as light bulb. Especially valuable in heat treatment of metals where high temperature or precise temperature control is required. Melting furnaces large as 25 tons capacity now in use.

424. Its Principal Uses?

While there has been a 10-fold increase of electric furnaces in the steel industry since 1910, the most spectacular development has been in non-ferrous metallurgy, where the principal application is in melting the aggregate tonnage being greater than in the steel industry. When used for type-metal alloy production very sharp castings, because of close temperature control. Dominates the brass and bronze industry; more copper alloys melted electrically than whole output of electric steel, 670,000 tons of brass electrically melted in 1925; fuel saving of 40,000 tons coal.

425. How Did People Get So Many Given Names?

Oldest personal names (of tribes, as wolf, bear, sun, tribe, etc.) were named after some incident connected with their birth. Until about 800 years ago there were no surnames to distinguish all the members of a family. In England people were long distinguished by Christian names only (usually given at time of baptism); today surnames are universal. People in England, Canada and the United States have complete freedom in selecting given names; in many parts of Europe selection must be made from certain lists. Christian names are derived from every source, many of them beautiful in meaning; others have no meaning as words.

426. So Many Family Names?

There are about 50,000 family names in England and the U. S., derived from every conceivable source—trade names, as Taylor, Weaver, Baker; as Smith originally meant "one who smites" with a hand tool, when trade names came into general use every hammer craftsman was called Smith. Others were named after physical things as Hill, Stone, Ford, Wood; personal characteristics as Long, Short, Small; colors, as White, Black, Brown; animals, as Lamb, Lion, Fox, Owl; names of places, as Johnson, Williamson, Adamson, Jackson, etc., the son of John, William, Adam or Jack, respectively. Others conveyed no meaning, invented simply to furnish a name.

427. How to Remember Names?

We remember anything by associating it with something else, the one recalls the other. To remember names we must remember faces—must couple them together so the face will recall the name. Hear the name plainly, if possible repeat it aloud. Observe the person carefully (so you will remember him); also try to make his name suggest something definite; if possible combine his appearance and the thing suggested into a mental picture and store it in your memory. Say you meet Mr. Lamb, Mr. Doerr, Mr. Campbell—you could make mind's-eye pictures of Mr. Lamb beside a lamb, Mr. Doerr in a doorway; Mr. Campbell smoking a "camel."

Fire at Macleod
Macleod, March 24.—Fire broke out in the basement of the Whitehall grocery on Main street shortly after 1:30 this afternoon, doing damage to the building and

Clareholm Horticultural Society

A very successful method of growing sweet peas for exhibition purposes has been forwarded to us by a friendly society.

1. Prepare your soil in the fall or early spring by having it well trenched and manured to a depth of two feet. The manure (cow or pig for preference) must be well mixed with the soil.

2. Steep your seeds, except the lavender and whites, in slightly warm water for 24 hours just before planting.

6. Plant as early as the weather permits, about one inch deep. There is no advantage gained by seeding in cold wet soil as the seed often rots or at least loses vitality.

5. A good way in dry weather is to put a little extra manure around the plants. Mulch it in well with the top soil and water as above.

7. For extra early blooming a few seeds may be started in a shallow box in the house in March and then transplanted.

Meeting of Hamar Lodge Sons of Norway

At a general meeting of the above lodge held in the I.O.O.F. hall on Thursday evening, 19 new members were initiated into the lodge.

Three trustees were elected at this meeting, namely: Odin Nelson, Thos. Barley and Kaga Berg. For outside guard, Richard S. Paulson was elected.

As auditors were appointed: Martin H. Arnestad, Hubert Paulson and Minnie Matson, and as historians Ole Dahl and Anna Erickson.

The flower fund was instituted by the ceremonial march, and the proceeds handed to the flower committee which at the present time is: Carrie Andrews and Valborg Dahl.

Anne Simstad, Hanna Fremstad and Albert O. Lundgren were in charge of the refreshment, which was very much enjoyed at the end of the meeting.
